The Constant Quilter on Pancake Road and the Take It For Granite Farm Bed and Breakfast in Wilmot sponsored a Quilt Camp last month. Participants enjoyed country elegant lodging and meals at the Inn, plus two full days of quilting at the quilt shop.

Another opportunity to stay and stitch is coming October 22 through 25, when the Country Inns of the Dartmouth Sunapee Region host their Craft Retreat. For more information call Take It For Granite's Lindy Heim at 526-6376 or visit NHCountryInns.com.

Third Annual Oktoberfest

By Alex Graff
Inn at Danbury

The Potato Pancake Eating contest is back by popular demand at the third annual Oktoberfest celebration September 16 and 17 at Alphorn Bistro at Inn at Danbury. The event will take place from noon to 8 PM Saturday and noon to 5 PM Sunday, rain or shine.

Alphorn Bistro, voted Best German Restaurant in New Hampshire by New Hampshire Magazine readers, will celebrate German culture and cuisine during this two-day event. The weekend will center around German music and a continuous feast of traditional bratwurst, schnitzel, red cabbage, German potato salad, sauerkraut, hunter's stew, and German beers and wines – all of it either under the tent outdoors or in the dining room.

Innkeepers Robert and Alexandra Graf, who run the inn and bistro along with their four children, said they are encouraged by growth and interest in German cuisine and culture over the three years they have been doing Oktoberfest. "Since we're one of the few options for German cuisine in the region, we really want to give people the kind of authentic German and Austrian food they might be missing. And then we throw in the incredible fun of an Oktoberfest party to give them a taste of the old country – just like in Munich! Just on a much smaller scale," said Robert, who is the chef at the Bistro.

In addition to the Potato Pancake eating contest, participants can enter a cooking contest with their best recipes for German Potato Salad or Sauerkraut, or they can show up in traditional German or Austrian costume to compete for prizes. A yodeling contest is also planned. Cooking contestants can register at InnAtDanbury.com/oktoberfest

Accordion music – with dancing encouraged – will be provided by Warren Johnson on Saturday and by Mike Kaelin on Sunday. Bring a lawn chair to relax and enjoy the music.

A debut is scheduled for a new German band, led by Dave Cook of the Kearsarge Community Band, on Saturday. There will be a "Name the Band" contest while they play, and the winning name will receive a dinner certificate for $20 to Alphorn Bistro.

Cover charge is $5 per person and $4 for senior citizens. $1 will be donated to the March of Dimes for each adult ticket sold over 250 people. Children under age 13 are free. The event is a come and go as you please, casual, and no fuss time. No reservations are taken.

Situated in rural, central New Hampshire, the Inn at Danbury is a rambling country inn providing a home base of relaxation combined with an abundance of four-season activities, including some of the best views of fall foliage.

"We are a perfect place to escape the city for a day in the country," said Graf. "We're only 55 minutes north of Manchester, but millions of miles away from your hectic lifestyle."

Inn at Danbury and Alphorn Bistro are located at 67 NH Route 104 in the town of Danbury. Call 1-866-DANBURY or 603-768-3318.

When we wanted to refinance our mortgage...

Franklin Savings Bank had all the answers.

"They explained what mortgage program was right for us, and really simplified the whole process. We closed in no time. The money we're saving will come in handy for all those home improvements we've been planning."
