

Proctor Academy Donates $5,000 to Andover Police Department

To upgrade communication technology

Scott Allenby, Proctor Academy

The relationship between Proctor Academy and the Town of Andover has been very special to both parties throughout Proctor's 168-year history. Proctor is fortunate to periodically have opportunities to contribute to the Town in ways that advance and strengthen that relationship.

In January, Proctor announced a gift of $5,000 to the Andover Police Department. It is the school's intention that the money will be used to upgrade communication technology and equipment, and any additional purposes at the discretion of the Chief of Police.

On behalf of everyone within the Proctor community, thank you to the Andover Police Department for your tireless efforts to keep our students, faculty, staff, town, and greater community safe.

Madison Square Garden, followed by dinner at the Hard Rock Cafe. As evening sets, in we'll ready for a night view of the city from the Empire State Building Observatory. Finally, we'll head to our hotel by way of the Theater District and Times Square.

The next morning, after a good night's sleep (right, students?), we head into the city bright and early to board a ferry to the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island. Then we are back on our bus and headed to the National September 11 Memorial and Museum. From past trips, we know to allow for lots of time at the museum. It is not meant to be rushed through.

After the museum, we'll visit Greenwich Village and then SoHo. We'll make a quick wardrobe change in order to dress for dinner and a show. We'll dine at Buca di Beppo and then it's off to Broadway to see Matilda at the Shubert Theatre. It will be late when we return to the hotel, but we'll have had the full NYC experience.

We'll be up early, and after breakfast we'll tour Upper Manhattan, including the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Riverside Church, Grant's Tomb, and then Harlem. Then we'll head to Central Park and spend some time. We'll see Strawberry Fields, the Bethesda Fountain, and the Alice in Wonderland sculpture. Our last stop will be at the American Museum of Natural History, where we will take time to explore the exhibits.

Then it's time to board the bus for the trip home. The weary travelers will return to Andover with lots of great memories from their last trip together as a class.

As mentioned, fundraising is underway. If anyone has any creative and profitable fundraising ideas, please let us know. It is sometimes difficult in a small town to fundraise, because we want to be respectful of other organizations who are also fundraising. We also don't want to keep taking money from the same people over and over again.

However, we are not afraid of hard work! Let us know if you've got some projects or ideas. Of course, donations are always accepted and very appreciated.
