Heather Burgess of HWB Pottery and Jewelry will have her colorful and beautifully designed pottery and mixed metal jewelry on display at the Andover Thrift and Gift Shop beginning in May. Heather creates pottery with a functional design that can be used in our everyday lives, such as mugs, garlic or ginger graters, ceramic garden markers, and soap dishes to name a few. Each piece is one of a kind.

Chelsea McDowell, owner of Woodley Home and Made By Woodley Home creates inspirational embroidery art with a message, as well as children's dry erase activity books, just in time for summer vacation! The books encourage kids to learn while having fun, and each book promotes outdoor play such as nature walks and scavenger hunts.

Both Heather and Chelsea are members of the Lebanon Art and Crafts Association. Interested in being a featured artisan with our shop? Stop by, call 603 735-5269, or email us for more information at ASCThriftAndGift@gmail.com.

If you haven't made a recent trip to the Andover Thrift and Gift Shop, please add this stop to your list. Besides the wonderful artisan gifts that are available, the shop carries a nice selection of new and gently used family clothing, accessories, and jewelry, as well as a See Thrift Shop on page 18

Andover Energy Group Shows Wasted! The Story of Food Waste

Monday, May 23, at 7 PM at the Hub

Press release

The Andover Energy Group will host a showing of the film "Wasted! The Story of Food Waste" on Monday, May 23, at 7 PM at the Andover Community Hub. The 2017 documentary, featuring Anthony Bourdain and other celebrity chefs, highlights the surprising statistics that 40% of food produced for human consumption in the US goes to waste; the cost of such waste adds up to $1 trillion annually; and there is still a national hunger problem, despite all the food that ends up in a landfill.

The film recognizes that problems exist all along the food chain, from production, to distribution, to storage, to consumption, to disposal. It focuses on steps that some individuals, organizations, and businesses are taking to make the system less wasteful.

The film showing is open to the community at no charge, and attendees are welcome to join a discussion of changes that can help to create a more secure and sustainable food system, both locally and nationally.

For more information, contact the Andover Energy Group (AEG) at AndoverEnergy@gmail.com. The AEG is a group of local volunteers working on energy efficiency and renewable energy issues.
